LACK-REPUBLICAN OFFICIALS IN WIS-

The most astounding developments have recently been made in regard to the corruption and profligacy of the black-republican State officials in Wisconsin. In 1856 a sill was put through the legislature of that State apportioning the lands granted by the United States to Wisconsin among its several railroads. The Milwaukee and lacrose railroad put in for a lion's share of the grant, and appropriate in obtaining it. The manner in which is secretary of the for a lion's share or the grand-fuser railroad put in for a lion's share or the grand-is succeeded in obtaining it. The manner in which a thing was accomplished by the road is thus disclosed a report made to the present legislature by an investi-ding committee. The following amounts were paid to

Governor of State	$50,000
Governor's private secretary	55,000
Hate officers	20,000

fixty-six assemblymen.	385,000
legislative clerks	17,000
bilitors and others	264,000
Grand total	000 000

The name of the governor was Bashford, who was sected by the black-republicans in 1855 over Barstow, the was denounced as very corrupt, but who certainly ras honest and pure in comparison with his successor. He was paid in bonds. Every member of the assembly, see four, who voted for the bill, is stated in the report to have received a consideration! PARTICULARS OF THE UTAH NEWS.

From the St. Louis Democrat, May 18.] We have been favored with the following extract from private letter to a gentleman of this city, from Fort ridger, dated April 10th:

"Mr. Gilbert, partner of Mr. Gerrish, reached here yesterday from California and Salt Lake. He met Gov. Cumming on Weber river, escorted by Porter, Rockwell, Egan, Van Etten, and others. He was to have a public reception in Salt Lake city to-morrow. Mr. Gilbert also reports that the Mormons were leaving.

Mr. A. F. Gerrish, the gentleman alluded to above,

Mr. A. F. Gerrish, the gentleman alluded to above, arrived on the John D. Ferry yesterday, and to him we are indebted for the following interesting information:

He left Fort Bridger, which is one hundred and thirteen miles from Salt Lake, on the 12th of April.

Gov. Cummings went into Great Salt Lake City in company with the Mormon umbassador, Col. Thomas L. Kane. Whether the governor was or was not invited to the city Mr. Gerrish does not know, and doubts if any one in the camp knows. one in the camp knows.

Mr Gerrish left Fort Laramie on the 24th of April.

At Fort Laramie he met Cotonic Hollman, who has arrived there from Fort Leavenworth with, as was said, 174 wagons. Forty miles this side of Fort Laramie, on the 25th of April, Mr. G. met the express mail from Fort Leavenworth. On the 26th, this side of Scott's Bluffs, he met Miles & Jones's mail, which left Fort Leavenworth on the 1st. Within twelve miles of Fort Leavenworth on the 1st. Within twelve miles of Fort

We have had an interview with Mr. Gerrish, an intelligent gentleman who was a passenger in the J. D. Perry, and who left Camp Scott on the 10th of April, and stopped a short distance from that camp for two days. His information from that camp is, therefore, to that date, and from Salt Lake city to the 9th. While his indeed, and the salt Lake city to the 9th. While his in-His information from that camp is, therefore, to that date, and from Salt Lake city to the 9th. While his information does not corroborate the news already given to the full extent, it leaves no room to question the fact that Governor Cumming had entered Great Salt Lake city. In order to account for this change in the aspect of affairs, it may be well to premise that Colonel Thomas L. Kane, who was sent out as a Peace Commissioner by way of California, arrived in Great Salt Lake city on the 25th of February; that he remained there eight days; that after that time he proceeded to Camp Scott; that while there, he frequentently passed from the camp to a place of conference with the leading Mormons, outside of the city; that, in pursuance of negotiations then entered into, Gov. Cumming left Camp Scott for Great Salt Lake City on the 5th, and was met by a gentleman on the 9th on Weber river, two days travel from the city. He was accompanied by Colonel Kane, and escorted by Porter Rockwell; H. Egan, and other Mormons. His arrival was anticipated on the 11th, and handsome apartments were provided and preparations made to receive him in good style. A gentleman who knows all about the Mormon people, and who was just from Salt Lake City, told our informant that the general feeling was in favor of peace, only a portion of the leaders, perhaps those who had offended against the laws, advocating resistance.

Mr. Gerrish was only nine days in making the trip from Camp Scott to Fort Laramie. Before his departure a scouting party, in charge of B. F. Ficklin, about whose safety some apprehensions had been felt, returned to the camp.

secort of cavalry, was to leave the 25th. On the arri-val of these supplies, Colonel Johnston's command would be put in possession of everything necessary to their comfort.

Captain Marcy, with his force from New Mexico, and houses, mules, and some three thousand sheep, was heard from on what is called the Cherokee trail, two hundred from on what is called the Cherokee trait, two hundred miles to the south of Fort Laramie. He had not been joined by the three companies of troops detailed by Gen. Garland as an escort, and was waiting for them when heard from. The large number of animals attached to his command made his progress necessarily very slow, but he was certain to reach Camp Scott by the 20th of

THE MORMONS READY FOR PEACE.

[From the Philadelphia Press, May 20.]

We are at last enabled to state that the telegraphic re ports as to the disposition of the Mormons to treat with the federal government are substantially correct. Some discredit has been thrown upon these reports, but intelligence yesterday received from Col. T. I. Kane by his Bestewi, That we have witnessed with intense interest migner yesterday received from Col. T. L. Kane by his family in this city leaves no doubt of the general authorization of the passage of the compromise act by Congress, whereby the vexed and distracting subject of the almission of Kansas under the Lecompton constitution into the Union as a State has, we confidently trust, less forever set at rest, and will not again be suffered to be made the all-absyrbing business of legislation, the delay and postponetaent of other matters which were more deserving of the attention of the two houses of Congress.

Bestewi, That we have witnessed with intense interest in the final property of the general authorization of the rumors which have lately been commented upon, and in some quarters (especially in New York) strongly doubted. Our fellow-citizen, Col. Kane, has proved himself fully equal to the duties he assumed, when, more than five months ago, at the imminent risk of reputation and of life, he departed on his dangerous and doubtful mission. He will have done the work of passe, and induced Governor Brigham Young and his followers to agree to an amicable adjustment of all difficulties between themselves and the government. Some are greatly and the strength of all difficulties between themselves and the government. Some feulties between themselves and the government. Some two months before the formal commission of the admin-istration, Colonel McCulioch, of Texas, and Senator (elect) Powell, of Kentucky, can reach Salt Lake. We do not for a moment doubt that the action of Col. Kane will be sanctioned by the President, as it unquestion-ably will be approved by the country.

THE HISTORY OF A GUN.

An old gun has been added to the cabinet of the Wisconsin-Historical Society. Its history is as follows:

"The gun was the property of John Prescott, and was brought by him from Lancastershire, England, who went first to Barbadoes, and owned land there in 1636, and came to England about 1640. ENGLAND AND FRANCE.

LONDON, May 4, 1856. Although, perhaps, there has rarely been a more critical period in the world's history than the present, nothing can exceed the quietness of our political condition for the moment. The toleration of the Derby ministry is strained to the utmost point. No one expects the elightest set from them. It is felt that if they were to act, it would be only to make blunders. A dead pause is, therefore, what all parties are striving for. Hence there is no policy, no boltness of opinion, on any side. Only an undignified explorage of each party upon the other, and a waiting upon Providence for some sudden contingency that shall turn the scale in favor of any one of them.

Moanwhile in France, whatever aims are contemplated.

the other, and a waiting upon Providence for some sudden contingency that shall turn the scale in favor of any one of them.

Meanwhile in France, whatever aims are contemplated are being steadily carried forward under one despotic will. Let the inference be what it may as to the intention of the preparations in progress, there can be no doubt as to the unity of purpose with which they are being pushed forward. Two days ago the aunouncement was made that 48,000 young soldiers, still available under the conscription of 1836, are to be called immediately into active service. The strength of the army was previously greater than at any former period of the rule of Louis Napoleon, and whether this addition is to be considered to possess any significance may be left to individual opinion. It can scarcely be to keep down the people, since the idea of any general outbreak in France is nowhere entertained, and the utmost danger to be apprehended is that which arises from a republican minority, still cordially datested by all other parties, and therefore capable of being coerced by a very moderate number of regular troops. Neither can it be to dazzle the public by a pleasing pageantry, since an impression is obviously gaining ground that the military and other expenses of the State are assuming unpleasant proportions.

Nor is it consistent with any assumption that it is the wish of the Emperor to preserve peace. Those who refuse to believe that he is nourishing a long meditaring design of foreign aggression argue that he has a difficult part to play to conciliate the soldiery, and that such at tacks as he seemingly encourages on England, Austria, Belgium, &c., are intended to keep them anused; that he himself earnestly desires to avoid a rupture; and that the only danger is best he should be forced into it by those around him. But if this be the case, if his perplexities consist in keeping the military from mischief, why does he add to their number? If it is difficult to caple 500,000 men into a contented performance of t

Carre, I vol. 12me; price St.
The author in the preface to this work, eavy: "Let us caution you against expecting to be lied by us into homes of showy leighter; for our story dates far back, at a time when forcet trees grow thing where now are spread out large cities; when New England respectability due not depend on the gloss of a coat, or the amount of sales in the sales when a home was a lone without refered and tapestry. We write of time when a man was thought to be homest and brusteni in like derived were so plain that even the mast mestapecting could but be aware of them."

This is one of Ruma Carra's best works, and is a book of great morit. Just published and for sale by
